

Teaching Evaluation Summary

Kaiyi Wen

Ph.D. Candidate, Department of Economics

Binghamton University (SUNY)

Course: ECON160-D2 Principles of Microeconomics

Semester: Spring 2025

Enrollment: 55 students

Number of survey respondents: 36

Summary:

The student feedback for this course reflects a strong performance across all key teaching metrics. The average instructor rating is an impressive 4.63 out of 5.0, based on core questions related to preparedness, clarity, responsiveness, and overall effectiveness. Highlights include:

- Well Prepared for Class: 4.81
- Demonstrates Subject Knowledge: 4.83
- Receptive to Questions: 4.81
- Encourages Analytical Thinking: 4.66
- Overall Effective Teacher: 4.42

These evaluations underscore a consistent commitment to teaching excellence and student engagement.

Teaching Evaluation Summary — ECON160-D2 (Spring 2025)

